

Warsaw School of Economics (SGH) is a renowned research and expert centre in the field of economic sciences. Research studies carried out by our university staff are used by well-known companies, central and local government offices and international organisations.

Warsaw School of Economics has a non-faculty structure. The students are divided between Dean's offices for bachelor and master studies. PhD studies are carried out by the 5 units called Collegia. Collegia gather within their structures faculty members who apart from teaching conduct research such as:

- contracted research studies corresponding to the needs of Polish economy and funded by the Ministry of Science and Higher Education,
- 'tailor-made' expertises for different institutions and enterprises,
- publications, i.e. the annual 'Poland, International Economic report',
- research projects, with UNIDO, UN, Council of Europe, World Bank, OECD,
- and many others international projects within the 5th, 6th, and 7th Framework Programme.

Collegium of Economic Analyses conducts research on:

- macro- and microeconomics,
- economic policy,
- mathematical economics,
- financial and insurance mathematics,
- econometrics and decision making theory,
- statistics and demography,
- operational research,
- economic information technology and related areas.

Collegium of Business Administration conducts research on:

- theory and strategy of corporate competition
- theoretical and practical aspects of human resource management in enterprise
- marketing links creation mechanism
- managerial accounting organisation and functions
- enterprise financing strategy and tactics

Collegium of Management and Finance conducts research on:

- theory of economics and management,
- finance and banking
- accounting
- economic policy
- economic law
- quality management and control
- marketing and consumption economics in the area of living standard of population

- logistics and transport services for economy
- systemic transformation

Collegium of Socio-Economics conducts research on:

- micro- and macroeconomics,
- international economic relations,
- public finance,
- banking, treasury
- history of economic doctrines, economic history,
- public sector management,
- ecology and problems connected with sustainable development,
- social policy and employment, social security,
- local government financing and local economy,
- sociology, philosophy, logic, political science,
- public administration, international political relations and diplomacy,
- European integration, international law, issues of regional and global security.

Collegium of World Economy conducts research on:

- European integration,
- system transformation of economies in Poland and other Central and East European countries,
- economic policy and international economics.
- international economic and political relations,
- international economic organisations,
- international transport,
- effect of globalisation,
- world economic situation,
- enterprise management, insurance
- the role of women in economy.